THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR NO. 16.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 1915

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

School Bond Issue Gets Large Majority.

Decision of Voters in Corporation Almost Unanimous While the Township Lacked One of Being Two to One on $75,000 Issue.

Two things were prominent in the bond issue election Thursday. One that the township sustained her reputation of when doing anything by doing it right and second that by a vote of nearly six to one the electors approved the board's action for a new school building. It was also apparent that had the question of centralization been an issue it too would have carried by about the same vote.

The result was even greater than anticipated by friends of the proposition and a great surprise to those opposed. Much of the opposition was not due to the fact that a new building was needed but that a greater building was proposed than necessary. All through the past weeks the Herald has felt the public would sustain the board in their request.

The large vote indicates that the electors have placed the utmost confidence in the board to build a suitable building where every contract will be faithfully carried out and the taxpayers given true value. For several years a new building has been talked of but such was impossible until the district could be enlarged to furnish a larger duplicate. We wish to congratulate our rural friends for their kindly assistance in giving the bond issue a majority, clearly indicating that the town people were not endeavoring to force something on them. The vote in the township alone is conclusive proof that the country people want improved conditions for their own children and are ready to share the expense. That is but the first step to centralization.

The election passed off very quietly and was a representative vote in every particular. The vote in the corporation was 211 yes; 15 no. In the township, 71 yes and 88 no. The total vote was 282 yes and 48 no.

MRS. MARY TORRENCE CALLED BY DEATH.

Mrs. Mary McIntire Torrence, wife of Mr. W. B. Torrence, Xenia, died Friday night from her home after only a few days illness, which started with a cold and an abscess in the ear. Little was thought of the seriousness of the case and complications set in and for several days previous to her death she was unconscious.

The deceased was born in this place on December 2, 1836 and was the daughter of Andrew and Mary (McIntire) Torrence. In 1858 she was married to Mr. Torrence. Besides the husband, two brothers, William, of Kansas City and Andrew, who has been in Xenia for the winter, remain.

Mr. Torrence has been with the Pennsylvania railroad for many years going from here to South Charleston and for the past nine years has been located in Xenia as freight agent. The deceased was a member of the First U. P. church, Xenia, and was active in all the branches of church work. Her death is keenly felt by her many friends who extend sympathy to the bereaved husband.

The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon, the services being in charge of her pastor, Rev. Dodds, who was assisted by Drs. McChesney and Ghesout of this place. Burial took place at Woodland cemetery.

Hard times make hardy souls.
What ought to be done, can be done.

"It is easier to bridle a wild ass of the desert than some tongues."

Simply because a church member does not do what is right is no reason why you should cast reflections on religion.

William Collins will lead the Christian Union Sabbath evening. Remember the Efficiency Contest is going on.

Dr. W. S. Harper, of New Concord has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be able to walk down town and attend church services.

Polycarp became a Christian at nine years. Matthew Henry ate eleven, Isaac Watts at nine; parents help your children to find the Savior while young.

"A young man does not need to be wild or dissipated or wicked to be a failure. He only needs to be bent on doing as he pleases regardless of what God pleases."

The eternal life is graded, all will be equal in the grand negotiations of heaven—that is they will have no sin, no sorrow, no suffering, no death; but in the positive things of heaven they will be unequal. The use we make here on earth of God's grace will measure the degree of God's glory which we shall receive in heaven.

Dr. and Mrs. Ritchie entertained the following young men from Xenia Theological seminary for dinner last Saturday viz: Walter E. Mettler, Christopher Lunen, Henry Rankin, Thomas Little and DeWitt McEchorn.

Miss Alice Finney returned Tuesday to Muskingum college for the Spring term which closes June 17.

The following adult baptisms took place last Sabbath in connection with the morning service. Alice Daines and Clarence and Donald Smith.

The sympathy of the congregation is extended to the bereaved family of his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Weber, of Newport, Kentucky, who died at the age of 78 last Friday.

The usual prayer meeting comes next Wednesday at 1:30.

Session will meet next Wednesday at 2:30 at the Pastor's study.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society next Wednesday at 2:30 will be led by Misses Maggie Burch and Etta Bull.

The pastor assisted Dr. Foster in conducting the funeral of Joe Stretcher the unfortunate young man burned to death by the explosion of a coal oil can. His remark "I would give a million dollars if I had it for a year of time," reminds us of England's Queen crying out "millions" for an hour of time. Now is the time while in health to prepare for death and eternity.

Read the church paper through every week. Get the habit. Keep posted on the movements of the Lord's army.

The Y. P. C. U. will hold a Bible Reading Contest Wednesday evening, May 5, to select a delegate to the Presbyterian at Springfield.

Readers of the Christian Instructor will note the sermon in last week's issue by Rev. W. V. Ritchie on "The Men needed for the Eldership."

Xenia Presbytery accepted our invitation to meet in Clifton next September. Mr. Bradford presented the invitation at the Greenfield meeting.

Rev. C. M. Ritchie was elected Moderator and Rev. J. S. E. McMichael Vice Moderator of Xenia Presbytery at its recent meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. Ritchie were guests for 5 o'clock tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. McChesney, of Cedarville, Friday evening. They also attended the Bible Reading Contest of the students of Cedarville College.

Next Thought—"The Home"

Now that "Easter Time" is past, alert housewives will "busy" themselves with thoughts of home needs. There are ever so many lovely, useful, needy things in this great big store that will rid the home of its dull winter furnishings and add that bright, spring-like appearance. For instance—

There are lovely crochets for over-dresses or door hangings and Rugs for inside use as well as the much-liked Grass Rugs for the porch. Then, too, our Willow and Rustic Hickory Porch Furniture is winning favor for its durability as well as the charm of its "old-fashionedness." Our Basement Salesroom is a regular "Store of Housewares" itself—we couldn't begin to tell of the many, many things. We ask you to come see for yourself—but remember, if not convenient to come, write to our Shopper and your order will have special attention whether it be large or small.

ESTABLISHING PRECEDENTS.

Not only are precedents being established daily in the European war but old customs are being ignored in the matter of patronage that falls to the present state administration.

Governor Willis has asked for the resignation of fourteen state appointees, all of whom were appointed by the Cox administration. It seems that all but one of these officials will refuse the request which means that the governor must file charges, and if found guilty, remove them from office.

The Governor refers to a precedent during Governor Harmon's administration in making such removals in that he must have men friendly to his platform as promised the voters last fall. Ex-Gov. Harmon gets on his feet and comes back at Gov. Willis that he quotes his message to the legislature like the Devil quotes scripture. All of which shows that the war fare in Columbus is not much unlike that across the water, save the fact that words have taken the place of bullets.

Gov. Willis has our approval in his attempt to remove the present appointees. Some of them claim they were appointed for certain terms which they have the right to complete. Others claim that the civil service law has been violated by the Governor and one of the State Commissioners has taken the Governor to task claiming that the Supreme Court is the only body having power of direction of that commission.

It has always been our idea that the spoils belonged to the victors and that civil service was the rank-and-file whether administered by a Republican or Democratic administration. The Democrats have never been very strong for civil service while the Republicans have always made great campaign promises of what it would do in force. The past Democratic administration beat the Republicans to the enforcement of it and a soreness exists. Nothing less could have been expected from the Democrats if the Republicans had placed this law in operation. The party in power always has the best of civil service and for that reason there is nothing worthy of such a plan. When the Republicans are in power let them have all the offices from sanitary policeman to governor and when fortune smiles on Democracy let the faithful share the same responsibilities.

Gov. Willis' administration so far has not been up to the expectations of his many friends, though there is time for making good yet. His present outlook and attitude is legislative that just drifts from day to day. The Governor has surrounded himself with a number of appointees of the professional politician type that have been on the pay roll for the many years a Republican administration held power. Many of these appointments have been displeasing to those who hoped for new faces and a different standard about the statehouse but the Governor has either been misled or has surrounded himself with a class of men for some purpose not known to the public. We fear that the trouble he faces at this time is not only coming from the Democrats' but from Republican sources as well.

The thunderstorm Saturday night furnished the first heavy rain of the present year. There have been a few showers but the rain at that time furnished more water than a half dozen of the lighter showers. It is an unusual thing for streams to be dried up at this season and such must be the case when our rainfall is 5.72 inches behind normal. This time last year we were but .86 inches behind. The year before, due to the March flood, we were 8.60 inches ahead. It can be readily seen that unless we have considerable rainfall this month and next we will enter the summer months far behind, which would cause great inconvenience to all and do untold damage to crops.

The Appolo Concert Company closed the lecture course on Monday night, a large crowd being pleased by the entertainment, which was high-class in every particular. Dr. M. I. Marsh presented a financial statement of the course and comparison with the years back. When the citizens' Committee took charge of the lecture course here the program was costing $950. The one just finished cost $475. There were 515 season tickets sold this year, the largest in the history of the Lyceum course for this place. There is a balance in the treasury of $140. The committee for next year will be Miss Alberta Creswell, Rev. J. W. Patton, Dr. J. W. Dixon, Prof. J. H. Fortney, A. E. Richards, Prof. L. D. Parker.

Historical Armed Coalitions. Six thousand English troops co-operated in Cromwell's time with the French army under Turenne against Conde. Again, in 1673, 6,000 English were sent to help the French against the Dutch. Among these was John Churchill, whose military talents were noticed by Turenne. At Navarino, too, the British, French and Russian fleets were joined against the Turks.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR APRIL 18

THE SHEPHERD'S PSALM.

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 23.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my Shepherd.—Ps. 23:1.

This is the most famous of the shepherd king's writings. Probably written in his later life, he borrows his figure from the experience of his youth. The relation of the lamb to David is a type to him of his relations to God. Israel's greatest poet had ample time for meditation in the days of his youth as he followed the occupation of shepherd. His playing on the harp is famous and he made the first official use of music in the worship of Jehovah (see I Chron. 16:24-26). The word "Psalm" is from the Greek, and first meant a stringed instrument. The Hebrew title of this book is "Psalms." Of the 150 psalms David is expressly credited with 73.

To fully study this, the sweetest of all psalms, we must consider it verse by verse.

(1) "My Shepherd." The lamb is David. The Shepherd is Jehovah. The time is man's natural time on earth. The rest is in the future. "This Shepherd so provides that the lamb 'shall not want.'" It is his business to care for his sheep. We are the sheep. Jesus is the Shepherd, and his sheep obey his voice (John 10:4, 5). We shall not want for food, for drink, for grace, for guidance, for companionship, for guidance and for welcome back to the fold at the end of the day or in the time of storm.

(2) "He leadeth me." "The Lord is my Shepherd because (a) he bought me; (b) he feeds me; (c) he leads me."—Robertson. To fully comprehend the deep significance of this psalm we must try to know the land of Palestine and the habits of eastern shepherds; how they feed their flocks, know them by name, and keep constant vigil against the danger of flood and wild beasts. The Lord is an individual shepherd, interested in the one as well as the whole, and as such attends to each individual's need. He provides a place for us to "lie down in pastures of tender grass;" he also causes us to walk beside "waters of quietness." He makes us to lie down at times and he knows where to lead, providing at the same time both food and drink.

(3) "He restoreth my soul." The Shepherd restores our faintness. If the lamb is too weak, he carries it "in his bosom" until it is revived. Many are the ways he revives us. A word, a sentence, a paragraph, or an experience will oftentimes restore the sick, weary, sorrowful or sin-battered child of God. He also leads—remember he does not drive—and his paths are paths of pleasantness and of peace. His paths are "right tracks," not the delusive ones of sin. We cannot walk in these paths without his leadership, without his strength, without rest, without the invigorating food and drink which is provided for us by the Good Shepherd.

(4) "Yea though I walk." Just as every need has been and will be provided for (Phil. 4:19) even so will every fear be banished. The flock has passed beyond the "tender grass" and "waters of quietness" into new and strange experiences, into the "valley of deepest darkness," not alone the experience of physical death but all of life's experiences that are shrouded by thick, impenetrable darkness, for the Christian does not always walk in paths of light. Sometimes we scarcely see the Shepherd, but we may always hear his voice. Dark valleys may lie between two excellent pastures grounds even as Bunyan suggests in Pilgrim's Progress. Death is a shadow, not a substance, for the sting of sin has been removed (I Cor. 15:54-57). We need not fear "For thou art with me" and he is stronger than any possible enemy. There are dangers which we cannot cope with, but as he is with us "we are able."

(5) "My cup runneth over." Here the figure changes. Jehovah is now the bountiful host. What a feast he has spread! David as a shepherd and as a fugitive from Saul knew the pinch of hunger and the satisfaction of eating in peace, in the very presence of his enemies, man and beast. They that are Christ's have enemies (John 15:19; II Tim. 3:12), but as our Host he has spread a banquet in their very presence while the world goes on feeding upon the husks. He also anoints our heads with the "oil of gladness," the Holy Spirit (Acts 10:38; I John 2:20, 27 R. V.). For the ancient feast this anointing was an essential preparation.

(6) "I shall dwell forever." Goodness and mercy pursue the psalmist in marked contrast with the enmity and the angel of judgment which follow the wicked (Ps. 35:6; 140:11). There is a perpetuity of blessing as well as the penalty of sin. The psalmist leaves the feast for his dwelling house which shall abide "to length of days." This is to be interpreted in its fullness only by the New Testament (John 14:1-3; I Thess. 4:16, 17).

Everlasting fellowship, communion and companionship with the Chief Shepherd, the "great Shepherd of the sheep."

"Enjoying Life." He alone appears to me to live and to enjoy life who, being engaged in some business, seeks reputation by some illustrious action for some useful art.—Salust.

Cedar Chests

Engraved Initial Name Plate Free!

The destructive moth will soon be around again. A few warm days and you will have to store your winter clothing. Our Genuine Tennessee Red Cedar Chests are made with overhanging lids. They are dustproof and mothproof, slightly and enduringly designed and finished to fit congenially and harmoniously with fine furnishings—some are plain, others are copper trimmed. With each box sold we will give an engraved initial name plate free.

No other paint in the world carries a bona-fide guarantee—

Pretty strong statement? Well, here's the proof. The paint you apply might crack—it might crack—it might peel—it might blister—it might fade it might prove unsatisfactory all around. Ask the dealer from whom you are considering buying paint to protect you against these things—in writing. He won't. He can't. We will. We do. With every bill of Bradley & Vrooman Paint we sell goes a Gold Bond Guarantee that is insurance to you against loss.

Bradley & Vrooman
Guaranteed Paint

We could set a higher price than we ask upon Bradley & Vrooman paint and be justified in so doing. The paint is worth it—witness the Gold Bond Guarantee as the manufacturer's token of faith in his product. But as a matter of fact you pay no more for Bradley & Vrooman Paint under our protected purchase plan than you do for kinds where you assume all the risk.

We are glad to talk Bradley & Vrooman Paint because we know it is WORTH talking about.

PENNY WISE, POUND FOOLISH

Contractor Saved His Nickel, but Was Out Something on the Transaction.

How to save a nickel and lose a thousand dollars is a lesson learned by a Bronx contractor. He was at the Fordham station of the Third Avenue elevated and he wanted to go to West Farms, at the end of the Lenox subway, to submit a bid on a contract. The ordinary way to make such a trip would be to pay two car fares, but this careful contractor saw a way to complete the journey for a single fare, but he says he will never do it again.

He bought an elevated ticket and rode down town to Third Avenue and One Hundred and Forty-ninth street, where he got a transfer to the downtown subway train. He intended to ride down to the next station, Mott Avenue, get off there and cross to the uptown side and ride back to his destination, thus saving five cents. Unfortunately that day there was an accident in the subway, the trains were blocked for nearly an hour and he was in a taxi that was stalled halfway between two stations. When he finally did arrive at the office he found all the bids had been opened and the contract awarded. His bid, however, was lower than the one accepted, yet it was for a sum sufficiently large to have shown him a cool profit of $1,000.

Then he went out and spent about $20 in drinks to drown his sorrow. New York Times.

HE PLANNED HIS OWN DEATH

How Sir William Hankford 500 Years Ago Evaded Law Against Committing Suicide.

Suicides often adopt ingenious methods, but the art of the felon seems not to have advanced materially during the centuries. The modern case of a heavily insured broker who on a fabled hunting trip stood bareheaded in a quagmire for hours and willfully contracted a fatal pneumonia is matched in cleverness by one 500 years old.

The following facts are well vouched for, and indeed were never questioned, says the Green Bag. Sir William Hankford, a judge of the king's bench in the reign of Edward III, Henry IV, Henry V and Henry VI, and at the time of his death chief justice of England, was a man of melancholy temperament.

He seems to have contemplated suicide the greater part of his long life and during his later years the idea became a fixed purpose. The act was of peculiarly serious consequences in those days for the reason that the law treated it as a capital crime. The offender was buried at the cross roads, with a stake driven through his body, and all his goods and property were forfeited to the crown, to the utter ruin of his family.

Hankford made good use of his wits and succeeded in accomplishing his purpose without incurring either unpleasant penalty. He gave open instructions to his gamekeeper, who had been troubled with poachers in the deer preserve, to challenge all trespassers in the future and to shoot to kill if they would not stand and give an account.

One dark night he purposely crossed the keeper's path, and upon challenge made motions of resistance and escape. The faithful servant, failing to recognize his master, followed instruction to the letter, as was expected of him, and Sir William fell dead in his tracks. The whole truth of the affair was common knowledge, but it was impossible to establish a case of suicide by legal proof. The servant was protected by his instructions. Hankford had honorable burial and his estate passed to those whose interests as heirs he had so wisely considered.
